WEAK, NERVOUS WOMEN

Need More Iron in Their Blood

Thin, impoverished blood results in run-down, anemic, nervous conditions. Mrs. Martha Stickle of Wooster, Ohio, was in this condition and at our request tells here how she recovered. She says, "I suffered from a weak, run-down, nervous condition as a result of the grip, so I could hardly drag around and do my work. My doctor had given me the best tonic he had, but without any effect. Vinol made me strong and well. I have a good appetite and can do all my housework. I will never again, nervous woman would try Vinol."

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE

STUDENT EXPENSES HIGH

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of Connecticut college at New London, the trustees made a careful survey of the financial condition of the college and prospective income and expense for the next year. In anticipation of the continued heavy costs of maintenance and of provisions and of service, which all institutions and private families alike recognize and must meet, the board decided to make the following rates for next year 1920-1921: Tuition, $250; residence (board and room), $450. Last year the tuition was $185 and the residence fee $245. The first year the college was opened the tuition was $150 and the residence was $250.

The action is not intended to discourage hope on the part of any worthy girl that she may continue in college. The president is desirous that any students finding on a careful study of their financial prospects for next year that they need more money through scholarship, aid, grant or loan, they will make a request to the president in person. It is the purpose of the board of trustees to endeavor to grant such aid so far as lies in their power.

Oysters are nervous creatures, and a sudden shock such as a loud thunderclap will kill many hundreds of them.

RESOLUTIONS BEFORE ADVENTISTS

Officers of the Seventh-day Adventist Southern New England Conference were unanimously re-elected at the morning session at 10.30 o'clock Monday at the Community house on Church street. The list presented by the nominating committee was as follows:

President, Elder A. T. Robinson; secretary and treasurer, C. H. Gerald; executive committee, Elder A. T. Robinson, Elder H. C. J. Walker, C. H. Gerald, D. B. Parmelee, J. A. Tefft, S. S. Gerard, E. P. Henry; tract society secretary and treasurer, C. H. Gerald; field missionary secretary, H. P. Gram; Sabbath school department secretary, Mrs. Bessie P. Wilcox; educational department secretary, Mrs. Bessie P. Wilcox; Young People's Missionary volunteer department secretary, Mrs. Bessie P. Wilcox; Hatteras Missionary secretary, Charles Dunham; religious liberty department secretary, Elder H. C. J. Walker; medical department secretary, to be supplied.

Resolutions Presented.

The following resolutions were adopted, pending discussion at the next conference session, on Tuesday morning:

Whereas, though we are living in the most serious time of this world's history, when many of our fellow men have gone down in death and destruction, God's rich blessing has rested upon the work of the conference, in the preservation of the lives of our workers, in the salvation of souls and in the support of the cause at home and abroad, by gifts and sufferings, therefore

"Resolved, That we hereby express our thanks to Heavenly Father for these manifold blessings and we renew the consecration of our lives, our service, and our means for the finishing of God's work in the world."

We recommend, that:

"The Southern New England conference acquiesce in the request of the Massachusetts conference to transfer back to the territory within their state the boundary line, formerly held by this conference."

"Recognizing the large percentage of foreign speaking peoples within our borders, and realizing the efficiency of the printed page in reaching this class:

"(a) We recommend that our people put forth special effort to circulate our foreign literature in the homes of these people.

"(b) That home foreign hands be organized in each church, giving special attention to this line of work.

"(c) That where a foreign neighbor is interested in the faith, their names be handed in to the workers of said nationality.

"Whereas, the circulation of our literature is a soul-saving agency, we recommend that we promote our regular colporteur work, that our workers, as well as men, be encouraged to devote their entire or spare time to this important work."

"Resolved: That we, as a conference, approve and adopt as our goal for missions for 1920, fifty cents per week per member, as recommended by the general conference, and approved by the Atlantic Union conference."

"Whereas, the Lord has greatly blessed the church in the home land, in the efforts to obtain funds for missions and whereas the needs in the foreign fields are constantly growing, we recommend our conference in gathering goal to be $5,000,000."

"We resolve to make effort to appoint competent leaders in each church and company to work particularly for the juniors."

"We resolve that we endeavor to comply with the recommendation of the general conference, that the Atlantic Union conference, to furnish two families for foreign fields each year."

"We recommend that each of our churches set before themselves a definite goal in the distribution of 'Present Truth,' Signs weekly and other missionary literature."

Fundamentals of Religious Freedom.

"We believe in civil government as divinely ordained by God, to maintain justice, freedom, peace, and good will among men. We believe that civil governments were divinely ordained to regulate human affairs, only—not religious concerns—a man's duty toward his fellowmen, but not a man's duty toward God."

"We are opposed to every approach leading to a union of church and state, and all compulsory religious obligations enforced under duress of civil law. Therefore, we are opposed to state legislation because it is essentially religious in its origin and character. Sunday observance was ordained and fostered by the church in behalf of a religious institution, and does not rest on the same basis as the civil law set apart in honor of state institutions. The civil government has no right to penalize labor or business that is perfectly legitimate in and of itself. What is civilly legitimate on Monday is equally so on Sunday. Religion only draws a distinction for religious reasons; and therefore, religious reasons cannot justify civil enactments. We are justified in standing up at one point, we can step over all along the line."

"The civil authorities have no right to compel people to observe even that day which God has commanded, as all his institutions rest on free will service, individual faith, and conscientious convictions of the heart. Compulsion in religion is an utter perversion of God's plan and regenerates and saves men, and can only engender formalism and hypocrisy."

"We therefore, protest against the two Sunday bills, one pending in the senate, S. 355, and the other in the house, H. R. 12504, as being out of harmony with the genius of our government, and the fundamental principles and guarantees of civil and religious liberty. Such legislation in un-American, un-Christian, unjust, impartial and unconstitutional. Let the state keep its hands off of religion and let the churches keep out of politics, that truth, liberty, justice and peace may prevail."

Afternoon Session.

At three o'clock Monday afternoon Pastor E. E. Andrews of Washington, D. C., delivered a stirring sermon on Inconsistent Christian Life.

At four o'clock a most interesting symposium was held in the interests of the educational work of the denomination, especially in connection with this conference. A piano solo was rendered by Miss Margarette Rinker, one of the juniors. Pastor E. K. Slade, president of the Atlantic Union conference, Professor Miles of Lancaster Junior college, South Lancaster, Mass., Professor Machin of Washington Missionary college, Washington, D. C., Mrs. Bessie P. Wilcox, educational secretary of the conference, and others gave short talks on the value of education, especially Christian education.

Miss Beatrice Pellet, of Danielson, Conn., another of the juniors, recited a little poem on Education: Miss Ella Mae Ivins, a senior at Lancaster Junior college gave a history of the school, Miss Helen Hall, a 1920 graduate of Lancaster Junior college presented a service flag representing the students of the college who had gone to foreign fields as missionaries and workers. There were five gold crosses to indicate that five of these workers had died in service abroad the sea.

Spirited three minute speeches, telling how they earned their way through college, were given by Pastor E. E. Andrews, E. K. Slade, A. T. Robinson, W. A. Butler, E. L. Carney, Professor Machin and Messrs. E. K. Franklin, P. L. Thompson and C. E. Fernald. Surely no one who heard these stories could doubt the possibility of working one's way through college, and all could appreciate the value of such an experience in the building of a character that is worth while.

ent members. Tablets indicating the progress of the campaign will be placed in the vestry of each of the local synagogues, and it is anticipated that the comparatively small sum required will be secured long before the period of the drive is completed.

The committee in active charge of this drive include the following: Isaac Jarnet Davidson, chairman, S. Baugher secretary, Harry M. Land, Abraham Strong, Rabbi Max Stamm, Aaron Gordon, Samuel Taylor, Morris Sussman, Israel Joseph N. Rosenberg, Michael Leitz, Abner Schwartz.

SERVES MANDAMUS WRIT

UPON JUDGE HEWITT

Judge Albert H. Hewitt of the town court of Groton was served with a writ of mandamus on Monday brought in the name of Hadlai A. Hull, state attorney, in relation to Max Benedict of Mystic, commanding Judge Hewitt to issue an order for the arrest of Max Benedict, against Manuel Sylva of the same place in a summary process action. The mandamus was issued by Judge Charles B. Walker at a session of the town court at Groton on Monday morning.

The issuing of the writ is the outcome of a controversy between Judge Hewitt and Attorney Keefe regarding the points of law during the trial of the case of Benedict against Sylva. Recently Benedict brought a summary process action against Sylva to regain possession of a store in West Main street, Mystic, owned by the plaintiff and occupied by the defendant as a restaurant. The former claimed that Sylva rented the store by the month while the latter claimed that he had a year's lease.

The action was tried out before Judge Hewitt and a petit jury in the town court last week and the jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Following the verdict, Attorney Keefe, who tried the case, applied to Judge Hewitt for a writ of error and a bill of exceptions in respect and ways in which the plaintiff claimed the court erred in the conduct of the trial to be reviewed by the court of common pleas.

Judge Hewitt refused to issue and Attorney Keefe immediately made application to Judge Walker for a mandamus ordering Judge Hewitt to allow the bill of exceptions Monday. The mandamus was served upon Judge Hewitt by Deputy Sheriff Manuel J. Martin and if it is not done he is cited to appear before the court of common pleas at a special session to be held Saturday, July 10, at 10 o'clock in the morning to show cause why he has not complied with the order of the court.

SEEK PLACES HERE FOR "FRESH AIR CHILDREN"

"Don't you want to help make an American?"

This is the question asked of everyone in Norwich by Mrs. McKay of the Tribune Fresh Air Fund who came here Monday to see how many of the Tribune Fresh Air children could be received in homes in this section.

The little folks from the lower East Side of New York are only one generation removed from the old country and are like us in every respect except that they are not American born.

The city schools of course teach them to salute flag and sing My Country 'Tis of the children of our land, but it is up to the people in the country and smaller cities to give these little going-to-be Americans an opportunity to form ideals of American life that they could never get otherwise, by sharing their homes with them for two weeks—two never-to-be-forgotten weeks, to the children. "I am not asking you to make summer boarders of them," Mrs. McKay explains, "but to let them share your work as well as your play; the moral effect of wiping dishes with a clean towel."

The classes comprise children ranging from kindergarten age to the boys and girls who are pupils at the Academy, and who are interesting themselves in the advanced study of the Talmud. The aim of the school is to make the pupils conscious of their Jewish heritage, and to the history, traditions, language and literature of their ancestors. Even Jewish music and folk songs are not neglected. In addition to the regular class room instruction, there are organized and meeting at the Institute a number of literary clubs under proper direction, one of them conducting all their proceedings in classical Hebrew. The results that have been and are being obtained are highly gratifying to the directors of the Institute, among whom are numbered the leading members of the local Jewish community.

While the instruction is not gratuitously given, no child is refused admission by reason of the parents' inability to pay for tuition. Each family pays in accordance with their means, and where circumstances warrant it, the child is instructed absolutely free of charge. It is obvious that this manner of deriving funds for the support of the Institute renders it necessary for the directors to exercise their best efforts towards meeting the needed expenses of the school rather than towards the direction and maintenance of the actual teaching work.

Accordingly, at a meeting held last week it was decided to conduct a drive for increased membership during the coming week for the purpose of securing an annual income of no less than $5,000, so that the directors may then utilize their energies towards the internal welfare of the school rather than to the securing of need finances. For this purpose a committee has been organized to secure pledges for support from those not as yet members of the Institute as well as for increased support from present members.

DRIVE FOR $5,000 TO SUPPORT HEBREW INSTITUTE

To the Jewish population of Norwich it is a matter of pride that in the many drives of whatever nature, conducted during recent critical years, the quota allotted to them has been always met and often exceeded. Whether for national purposes, such as the Liberty Loan, war savings stamps, United War Fund, Red Cross and Salvation Army, or for specific Jewish objects such as Jewish war relief or Palestine Restoration Fund, the Jewish community of Norwich has contributed generously in proportion to their numbers and means.

Now for the first time, however, they are inaugurating a drive for a purely local object, but one which has ever been closest to the heart of Jews in all ages—the religious education of the young. In every Jewish community, be it ever so small, provision is early made for training the children in their ancestral faith, in the ancient Hebrew tongue, the language of the Bible and the prayer book, and in the literature, customs, observances and traditions of their people.

For more than a few years such an education has been given here at the Norwich Hebrew Institute on the West Side, where a systematically prepared curriculum is carried out under the supervision of competent teachers who instruct about one hundred children daily after public school hours and on Saturday and Sunday as well. The teaching is done in accordance with the Jewish religious, moral and the classical Hebrew is the sole medium of expression.

The classes comprise children ranging from kindergarten age to the boys and girls who are pupils at the Academy, and who are interesting themselves in the advanced study of the Talmud. The aim of the school is to make the pupils conscious of their Jewish heritage, and to the history, traditions, language and literature of their ancestors. Even Jewish music and folk songs are not neglected. In addition to the regular class room instruction, there are organized and meeting at the Institute a number of literary clubs under proper direction, one of them conducting all their proceedings in classical Hebrew. The results that have been and are being obtained are highly gratifying to the directors of the Institute, among whom are numbered the leading members of the local Jewish community.

While the instruction is not gratuitously given, no child is refused admission by reason of the parents' inability to pay for tuition. Each family pays in accordance with their means, and where circumstances warrant it, the child is instructed absolutely free of charge. It is obvious that this manner of deriving funds for the support of the Institute renders it necessary for the directors to exercise their best efforts towards meeting the needed expenses of the school rather than towards the direction and maintenance of the actual teaching work.
